

The Bank of Ireland Regional Pulses combine the views of households and firms around the country. The results for February 2019 (3 month moving average basis) show that sentiment was little changed on the month in Dublin, the Rest of Leinster and Munster but up a bit in Connacht/Ulster.

Brexit was on minds again this month, with households downgrading their assessment of the economy and over eight in ten firms indicating that they expect it to have a negative impact on their region. The data also point to infrastructure headwinds for businesses, with transport called out by firms as the priority area for investment in Connacht/Ulster and housing topping the list elsewhere.
