

The Bank of Ireland Regional Pulses bring together the views of households and firms around the country. The 3 month moving averages show that sentiment was up across the board in December 2020.

While Brexit was on minds, the easing of Level 5 restrictions at the start of the month lifted the mood and with consumers and businesses also taking comfort from developments on the vaccine front, households in all regions were more positive about the economy's prospects this month and firms in all regions upgraded their near-term expectations for activity and jobs.
